<https://www.enttoday.org/category/departments/the-voice/>

A serialized column I author in ENTToday, a publication of the Triologic Society, which features interviews I perform with surgeons, researchers, and other members of the otolaryngology community. The column highlights human stories that represent who we, as a medical community, are holistically. Each of us has a personalized narrative of our personal and professional journeys, triumphs, and tribulations. Collectively, these stories have influenced and enriched the members of our otolaryngology community and beyond.
